High Level Goals:

- Create a website where people can have accounts and upload their study notes.
- Have the ability to generate flashcards for studying.
- Allow users to interact study each other's notes.

Sprint 1:

- I as a team member would like to easily share code and work on the project in order to get an A in the class. (This would imply setting up GitHub and Django).
  - 3 Story Points
- I as a user would like to be able to create and log into an account in order to be able to have my own unique profile.
  - 3 Story Points
- I as a user would like to be able to store my information (flash cards and personal profile) on my own account in order to be able to access my notes when I need them most. (Here we would setup the database)

  - 8 Story Points

Sprint 2:

- I as a user would like to be able to create flash cards in order to study important material.
  - 8 Story Points
- I as a user would like to be able to group and organize my flashcards to enhance my studying experience.
  - 5 Story Points
- I as a user would like to be able to upload my notes (but not save) and have flash cards automatically generated to save studying time.

  - ○ 10 Story Points

Sprint 3:

- I as a user would like to be able to study a deck of flashcards in order to study for a class.
  - ○ 8 Story Point
- I as a user would like to be able to search for users profiles and shared decks by name in order to find study material associated with a class I'm in.
  - ○ 10 Story Points
- I as a user would like to be able to copy someone else's public notes so I can modify them and study them myself.
  - ○ 5 Story Points
